Telephone Saved Child's Life

One of the children fell into a water tank on an Alabama farm and was rescued unconscious and apparently lifeless. The frantic mother rushed to the telephone and called the doctor six miles away. He told her what to do and started at once, but before he arrived the child was out of danger.

The protection of women and children is only one of the chief values of the telephone on the farm.

You can have this service at small cost. See the nearest Bell Telephone Manager or send a postal for our free booklet.

LONG TUNIC TAKES COUNTRY BY STORM

Immaculate Freshness The Keynote to Being Well
Dressed in the Hot Summer Time.

THE OXFORD SHOE AGAIN IN FASHION.

NEW YORK, June 16, 1914.
The attractiveness of summer costumes lies largely in their immaculate freshness. Often a dress of cheaper material will be of greater satisfaction because of its well-launched crispness than a more expensive frock. Lawn, swiss, linen and ratine are charming made up in a simple, stylish manne, and, if worn when fresh and crisp from the ironing table, will give the wearer as dainty an appearance as milady in expensive silks and chiffons, who may wear a gown but once and lay it aside forever.

It is a foregone conclusion that women are dainty, and if daintiness is lacking so is feminine charm.

A Frock of Dainty Lawn with Skirt in Bustle Effect.

A simple design serves for my first illustration, and displays to the best advantage the flowered lawn of which it is made. The simple waist has the body and sleeves in one, with a large, rounding collar of the same lawn. A chemise of white organdy, with flaring collar, completes the waist. The skirt is plain, except that it is caught up to simulate a bustle, gives a quaint and old-time effect to the dress. Behold! from inexpensive materials and simple embellishment we have a charming costume which is easily made and easily kept fresh.

The long tunic skirt has taken the country by storm. So sudden and unexpected has been its popularity that the shops have been unprepared for it. The manager of a well-known shop, where only ready-made suits and costumes are sold, said that if the furore had come any earlier than it did it would put them out of business.

The suit of my second illustration has the long tunic skirt, and simple jacket of cadet-blue ratine. It is made of the one material throughout, which makes it stand alone in the crowd of suits and dresses where combinations of colors and fabrics are the keynotes.

A variety of fabrics are being used for children's frocks. Among them is crepe, which makes charming little dresses that have an added attraction in that ironing is required to make them presentable. After they are washed, if they are wrung and pulled and smoothed into shape, they are ready to put on as soon as they are dry.

For play dresses and rompers, select the heavy, firm quality. It is called English or Japanese crepe, and comes in a number of alluring colors, such as Dutch blue, buff, odd pink and greens. These will be found serviceable and are usually made into little frocks which hang from the shoulders and are belted with a wide belt, or sash, of the same or contrasting color.

For every-day afternoon dresses please crepe may be used. This comes in quaint and old-time designs, especially cunning when made up with long waists and short, fluffy skirts. A two-inch strip of the material may be corded on either edge, and used for the connecting belt of skirt and waist.

Voile and net take first place for the little girl's best dress this summer. These are usually worn over slips of pink or blue wash silk. Even for the tiny girl net is used, slightly corded and braided, tucked and embroidered. In these little dresses the fashions which dominate Mamma's dresses soon find their way in a modified form into the fashions for the child. So Mother's tunics have become double skirts for the little daughter and the waists have given a waistcoat effect to pointed vests in children's dresses.

For the small boy the Dutch and Oliver Twist suits are having a great vogue. Trousers of blue, green or brown, and buttoned to waists of white, having collars and cuffs to match the trousers, are distinctly boyish and quite a change from the rompers, which have been the accepted every-day suit for the small boy so long. A Florence Dombey dress for the little girl corresponds to the boy's suit. The short, circular skirt is buttoned with large pearl buttons to a blouse of white. It is very cunning, but more becoming to the girl of eight than to her younger sister; while the boy's suits are more becoming to the real small boy.

The small boy's suit for wear on state occasions should be of white pique or linen. If he is small the collars and cuffs may be embroidered, but as he grows older the plainer and more tailored must the suit appear.

For the boys and girls alike the Balmacaan coat is smartest for every-day wear and should be in every wardrobe made of some rainproof material to take the place of the rubber coat in rainy weather. Capes for the girl are coming in upon the high wave just in the wake of mother's cape, and more than likely the smartest winter coats will be those having a cape of the same material attached.

Now is the time for a timely talk on feet. Gone is the old prejudice against large feet. Athletics helped to lessen it, and dancing has reached the people that athletics didn't touch. In order to dance the new dances gracefully the feet must be comfortable. Many have tried to launch the dancing slipper without heels, on the ballet variety, but except among a very few this has not been successful. But heels are lower and toes are broader throughout the whole shoe realm.

Colored uppers to shoes, or colored stockings with low shoes, are quite the expected mode. The low shoes also have colored uppers and backs in cafe au lait (the color of coffee and milk), or biscuit. These are mounted well down into the vamp and run to the sole at the sides, and make the feet look as small as possible.

A Suit in One Color, a Welcome Relief from the Many Popular Combination.

The oxford has come into fashion again, and rivals the English pump. In the country these are worn with leather thongs instead of the silk laces or ribbons. Plain silver buckles are correct for wear on the low shoes, while the latest thing in ribbons for low shoes is the varnished shoe ribbon.

The brocaded slipper in dull colors we have borrowed from the Parisienne, who wears them with white stockings, or with those matching the dress worn.

In children's shoes for summer the sturdy little strapped slipper holds first place for the little tot, and for the older child the oxford in black and brown.

COUGHS AND COLDS WEAKEN THE SYSTEM.

Continued Coughs, Colds and Bronchial troubles are depressing and weaken the system. Loss of weight and appetite generally follow. Get a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day. It will stop your cough. The first dose helps. The best medicine for Stubborn Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Mr. O. H. Brown, Muscatine, Ala., writes: "My wife was sick during the hot summer months and I honestly believe Dr. King's New Discovery saved her life." Good for children. 50c and $1.00 at your druggist.
